

Richard Haire

Chair of the CRDC

(Cotton Research and Development Centre)

I am proud to belong to an industry that values equality in all human possibility and lives by the mantra of diversity. The role that women have played in our past, the contribution they make to our present and the opportunity they offer to our future is immeasurable and I simply cannot imagine a future as anything other than one of blindness to gender. There is no case that can be made for opportunity being defined by gender. It is that simple.